Dogmatic goes back to the Greek words dogma, which means basically "what one thinks is true" and dogmatikos, "pertaining to doctrine.". To be dogmatic is to follow a doctrine relating to morals and faith, a set of beliefs that is passed down and never questioned. It also refers to arrogant opinions based on unproven theories or even despite facts.

Generating Preview ... In The Dramatic Imagination , Robert Edmond Jones puts forth some incredibly interesting ideas about theatre. He addresses almost every area of the theatre, but he gives special attention to the design aspect- especially costumes and lights. Jones’ ideas aren’t exactly ones you would argue for and against, but I found his points and ideas new and a little exciting.
